the possession of these drugs became legal only if obtained on a medical prescription or if the possessor was a specially authorised person such as a doctor or chemist.