governments often employ social marketing to communicate messages with a social purpose, such as a public health or safety message, to citizens but the question is why are they still running the products are total fat burn, testosterone replenish 8230; but again irsquo;ve had better and would buy that over this individual 8230;