you may call them stupid, but think about the time you truly believed in something

"i am conservative and passionately believe in limited government, not the totalitarianism that is spreading before my eyes," she wrote beverages that contain caffeine typically have antioxidants as well, which have show to have a strong association with improving brain cognition.